Austrians Unsuccessful in New Offensive Against Italians—British Using Gas With Good Result.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Aug. 31.—Rumanian troops have advanced thirty miles into Hungary, driving the Austrians before them in wild flight. Dispatches from Bucharest say the Austrians in retreat abandoned the mountain passes, villages and mountain fortreses to the victorious troops of Ferdinand.

The report that King Constantine of Greece had fled from Athens was denied at the Greek legation today.

British Used Gas With Good Results.

London, Aug. 31.—British troops used gas on Armentieres-Arras front against the Germans last night with good results, the war office announced. The official report also states that Bavarian soldiers and officers surrendered to the British in the vicinity of Martinhays without attempting to escape.

Austrian Troops on the Offensive.

Germans Ejected by Counter Attacks.

Paris, Aug. 31.—Shifting their attacks to Lorraine, the Germans penetrated the French trenches in the sector of Parroy, but were immediately ejected by counter attacks, the French war office announces.

THE HOPKINS CHAUTAUQUA

The Journal Says Chautauqua Management Should Spend More Money and Get Better Talent.

Hopkins has contracted with the Redpath-Vawter people for a chautauqua next year, nearly 100 people including quite a number from the country, signing the guarantee contract at the close of this year's program. No town can afford to be without a chautauqua but we must confess the programs should be strengthened somewhat if the chautauquas are to live and flourish. The managers should not try to get rich too quick but spend a little more money for talent instead of picking up so many school boys and girls "to fill in with" in the way of "musicales."—Hopkins Journal.

THE CALDWELL HERD

HERBERT M'DOUGAL WRITES FAMOUS CATTLE.

WORTH ABOUT $200,000

Varies in Number From 300 to 400, and Some Are Valued as High as $10,000 Each.

Herbert F. McDougal, editor of Profitable Farming, of St. Joseph, has a story in this week's issue of that paper about the Caldwell herd, of Burlington Junction, which made a grand sweep in the Aberdeen-Angus class at the Iowa state fair this week. The story in part follows:

The Caldwell herd, as you doubtless know, is the champion Aberdeen herd of the United States. It varies in numbers from 300 to 400 individuals and is worth anything from $150,000 to $200,000, with individuals that couldn't be bought for $10,000. It isn't anything to have a dozen cows pointed out to you in a clump of trees, each one valued at $1,000. It makes you shudder to think what would happen if the foot and mouth disease should get a start there.

Also, it made the Caldwells—father and son, C. D. and E. F.—shudder when the well known epidemic of that disease was on, and the stranger with dirty boots didn't find the glad hand extended, and the "welcome" on the doormat was replaced by the skull and crossbones, so to speak. Gunpowder in considerable quantities was burnt in killing off pigeons and crows, and there were nights when the Caldwells didn't sleep much. One just naturally thinks of such things when he sees so much value running about on four legs.

Off to the Shows.

In one of the big barns, blanketed and sleek and in the pink—if a black cow can even, figuratively speaking, be pink of condition—were twenty-one of the pick of the herd, waiting to start a couple of days later to the show. They were as well fitted and as beautiful as they could be made by all the thought and care Bob Johnson could bestow on them, and Bob Johnson, as all breeders know, is the king of herdsmen in this country. He has been with a number of big herds, including the O. Harris herd of Herefords at Harris, Mo., and he knows the feeding of cattle forwards and backwards.

If you'd know how widespread is Bob's fame, you can judge by the fact that agricultural colleges of several states, and even agricultural professors have offered to work a year free on the Caldwell farm merely to sit at Bob's feet and learn his cattle lore.

But Back to the Cattle.

It's pretty hard to stick to cattle, even when attempting a story altogether about cattle, because fine cattle are like fine anything else with which men have to do—they are the culmination of somebody's ambition and energy and vision. You couldn't even begin to get an idea of what the Caldwell herd is until you'd know that C. D. Caldwell has been in the cattle business for forty years, coming to Missouri when that part of the country was young and raw, and that he has fed as many as 700 steers in a season. He used to be able to go into his herd and pick out any steer and tell where he got it and all about it.

Nor would you have a correct understanding of this fine assembly of cattle until you were informed that E. F. Caldwell is a young man who came out of agricultural college eight years ago with a well defined idea that he wanted to raise Aberdeen Angus cattle that would take their place in the bovine world, and that he has adhered strictly to that idea until he has won success.

It isn't a bit of an exaggeration to say that it would take the brush of a painter, as well as the printed pedigree to give the reader an idea of the beauty and excellence of these animals. Perhaps it might mean something to say that it would be pretty hard for a

SCOVILLE TO COME

TELEGRAM RECEIVED TODAY ACCEPTING FORMER DATES.

HIS PERSONAL WORKERS

Will Arrive Sunday to Make Preparations for Meetings—First Session Opens September 10.

Charles Reign Scoville, evangelist, today wired that he would come to Maryville and hold revival meetings in this city from September 10 to October 9, under the auspices of the Protestant churches. His personal workers will arrive Sunday to make preparations for the meeting, and will confer with the local ministers and the executive committee recently appointed by these churches for these meetings.

Th meetings will probably be held in a tent, the location of which will be decided later on. The building of a tabernacle will be given up, as there is not enough time before the meetings to construct such a building.

The telegram received from Mr. Scoville was from Butler, Ind., and was in reply to one sent by the ministers here several days ago. It was thought the first of the week that the meetings would not be held at the time scheduled, as no word had been received from Scoville, and the short time intervening would not give enough time to make preparations necessary for the meetings.

MRS. GEO. EGGERS DEAD

St. Joseph Woman Buried in Hopkins Cemetery—Service Conducted By the Rev. Girth.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church in this city for Mrs. Geo. Eggers, who died August 27, at her home in St. Joseph, following a long illness with consumption. The Rev. Mr. Girth preached the funeral sermon and burial took place in Hopkins cemetery.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Flowers of this city, and was born in Noble county, Ohio, June 27, 1861, coming west when a girl. She was married to G. W. Eggers at Pickering, Mo., in 1885, and to this union five children were born—four sons and one daughter. Two sons died in infancy. The children living are Mrs. Charles Hearter, Jesse Lewis, and Thomas Bryan of St. Joseph. The husband preceded her in death some years ago. Four brothers and a sister reside here—Mrs. Al Hall and John, Frank and Charley and Cleve Flowers.

Mrs. Eggers was converted in young womanhood, joining the Baptist church, and remained a faithful member until death.

MONTGOMERY CO. MEN RAISE FUNDS FOR VILLISCA CASE.

WILKERSON IS HOPEFUL

Thinks That Mansfield Was Hired to Do Deed by Villisca Resident—Wants Rehearing.

Maryville seems to figure in the Moore Murder case of Villisca, which took place in 1912. P. N. Wilkerson, the detective who has been working on the case, has been in this city several times recntly invstigating clue, and will probably be here a few times more before the new grand jury at Red Oak, Ia., will have a hearing.

The following is taken from the Creston Advertiser-Gazette:

Thorough investigation of the eight ax murders which took place at Villisca during the summer of 1912, was promised this week as the result of mass meetings held in Montgomery county at which funds have been raised. The perpetrator of the deaths of Joe Moore and his family has never been found. A recent grand jury failed to indict a suspect named Mansfield held at Kansas City and later taken to Villisca. The citizens who are backing the present movement believe that Moore was murdered by some one who was hired for the job and that he killed the other seven persons sleeping in the home when one awoke at the time of the tragedy. It is believed by many that an enemy of Moore, possibly living in Villisca at the time, arranged the murder. Possibly the man to do the most work towards solving the mystery is a Burns detective, J. N. Wilkenson, who has been at work on the case continually since the tragedy occurred. The Villisca Review gives the following details of the search being made for the murderer:

It is said a detective from the Burns agency by the name of J. N. Wilkenson is giving lectures in Montgomery county on the Villisca murder of the Moore family, and he is stirring up considerable talk. A gentleman from this county who went to Grant to hear him said his address will "set the hair." Our informant says he accuses Mansfield, who was recently arrested on the charge and released by a Montgomery county grand jury, of having committed the murder and that he was hired to do the deed by a prominent man of Villisca, and comes out and names the guilty persons in his estimation; that the officers of Montgomery county (except the sheriff) and the attorney general of the state are accused of neglecting their duty in the matter of prosecution, and that the recent grand jury investigation is alleged to be a

The winners of grand champion honors owned both by Mr. Bellows and Mr. Caldwell were bred in this county.

The show herd of the Bellows Brothers will be brought home tomorrow and the other fairs will not be made just at this time on account of the threatened railroad strike. The Caldwell herd will be exhibited at a number of the other fairs and from Des Moines will go to the Minnesota state fair.

PLAN SCHOOL ATHLETICS

High School Contests for Normal District Planned at Meeting in St. Joseph.

The board of control of athletics of the Maryville Normal school district met at the Hotel Robidoux, in St. Joseph last night and formulated plans for high school athletic contests for the coming year.

For basket ball it was decided to divide the district into four sub-districts. At the end of the season a tournament will be held at Maryville to determine the championship of the normal district. Each sub-district may send its two best teams to this tournament.

The board also has under consideration plans for contests in each sub-district in declamation, essay writing, and extemporaneous speaking, the boy and girl of each sub-district who is declared winner to present their respective districts in the final district contest to be held in Maryville in May.

Members of the board are A. R. Coburn, superintendent of schools at Chillicothe and president of the board; P. C. Callaway of Mound City, secretary; George H. Beasby of Liberty, A. C. Guinn of Trenton, and F. C. Fair of Gallatin.

WILSON WOULD HURRY CONGRESS

PRESIDENT TAKES CHARGE OF LAW CAMPAIGN.

WISHES 8-HOUR DAY LEGALIZED AT ONCE

President Garretson Says He Will Accept This Measure as Sufficient Warrant to Call Strike Off.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Aug. 31.—President Wilson went to the capitol today and took personal charge of the campaign to pass legislation this week which will result in the calling off of the strike threatened. His influence is being used to have immediate action taken on the bill which legalizes the eight-hour work day for the operating department of the railroads.

Administration officials made confident prediction this afternoon that strike will be prevented by legislation passed within the next twenty-four hours. It is admitted the situation is still extremely acute and that a tieup getting legislation through might nullify all efforts.

When President Wilson left the capitol he admitted that progress had been made toward the settlement. Stone, Carter and Lee went into conference with Wilson at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

President Garretson of the conductors told the senate interstate commerce committee he would accept such a law as sufficient warrant of his ordering the strike called off.

Despite opposition of the railway presidents, the general belief expressed in official circles is that congress will jam it through between now and Saturday.

Means a Bitter Fight.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Approaching railroad strike means a bitter fight between organized labor and the organized railroads. This was made certain today when officials of all the big roads entering Chicago planned to attend the meeting to perfect united front in fighting the brotherhods.

Wilson to the Senate.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Following a conference with Senator Kern, it was announced that the president was going to the senate at 11:30 this morning to resume conferences and to consider legislation to prevent the strike.

WILSON CAN RUN TRAINS

Law Enacted in 1862 Gives President Authority to Operate Tracks in Case of "Public Necessity."

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Aug. 31.—An important development in the strike situation was discovered today by Representative Adamson, who found a law that was enacted in 1862, still on the statute books, which enables the president to take over the operation of the tracks in case of "public necessity," and holds amenable to court martial proceedings any person refusing to aid in such operations.

To bring about a closer co-operation between city and country is the chief aim of Col. Gardner. With a great system of rural credits, better roads, better schools, interurban electric lines and vastly improved farms, higher and happier community life will be developed in the country, while the cities will be found greater markets for Missouri's expanding industries.

SLOWLY, BUT SURELY.

Republican newspapers are laboriously complaining that the Wilson administration hesitated a long time before demanding and forcing through its splendid program for the national defense.

They might as well go back and repeat the war-time criticism of Lincoln for his hesitation before issuing the emancipation proclamation. Thoughtful, responsible men, who weigh the cost and consequences of their actions, are always slower to move in such crises than irresponsible critics. Wendell Phillips called Lincoln an "old turtle," and raved over the delay in freeing the slaves much as Congressman Gardner has been raving over the alleged loss of time by President Wilson. But when the time was ripe the slaves were freed, and the nation got the best defense measures it ever had—and all the railing of partisan opponents will not suffice to dim either service.—Chicago Journal.

MISS DENNY RESIGNS.

Will Go to Marshall to Take Position in Public Schools.

Miss Martha Denny, who was engaged to teach the intermediate grades in the Elmo public schools for the coming year, resigned her position yesterday and has accepted a position in the Marshall public schools under Superintendent W. M. Westbrook. She will teach one of the primary grades in Marshall.

Blagg Spent $50.75 in Campaign

James W. Blagg, who was elected as the Democratic candidate for county treasurer, filed his campaign expense account today. It was for $50.75 and most of it was spent for advertising.

Leave for Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Nixon left today for Columbia, where they will make their home.

W. M. Oakerson of the state department of education at Jefferson City will arrive in the city tomorrow night to attend the educational conference of the Nodaway county teachers. Mr. Oakerson is on the program for an address.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark of Savannah will arrive in Maryville tomorrow to visit at the home of Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clark.

WILL F. NEWLAN,
Conductor Kilties Band.

This city was invaded yesterday by the "Kilties," Canada's greatest concert band, that is now making a tour around the world. They were met at the pier by the government band, and the visitors were heartily welcomed by thousands of citizens. Two concerts were advertised, but owing to the late hour of arrival of the S .S. Marama, the Kilties were unable to give their afternoon concert. This was a great disappointment, so every seat was sold. The evening concert was a grand success from start to finish. The house was filled from pit to dome long before the advertised hour. Every number on the program was encored again and again. The audience was most enthusiastic throughout the evening. Our Canadian visitors sailed early this morning for Fiji.—Hawaiian Star.

farmer to content himself with scrub cattle, once he had spent a day with this herd. Scrub cows wouldn't satisfy, I am quite sure.

The herd was representative of five families, the Blackbird, the Erica, the Pride of Aberdeen, the Queenmother and the Heatherbloom, and the Caldwells are constantly on the lockout for fine individuals of these families to add strength to their already strong lines.

The herd was started with just a few individuals and at the end of the first year there were less than 100 in the lot. Then the J. C. Robinson herd of sixty-five cattle was purchased, but so rapid has been the advance and so many the changes that only about nine members of this herd yet remain in the Caldwell collection. Recently the herd of F. C. Fleming of West Lebanon, Ind., was absorbed, giving the Burlington Junction men some fine individuals.

The Buyers Come.

And buyers come to the Caldwell place—big breeders, little breeders, those who wish to establish herds, and farmers. They come with different manners and with diferent aims. The man with newly inherited money wants quick action, the best in the herd. The farmer may want a cheap bull. The breeders come with critical eye and a memory full of pedigrees.

These buyers do not all ask for the animal that best suits their needs as witness the fact that the man who is about to launch into the business nearly always demands a heifer. Take it from E. F. Caldwell that the beginner ought to buy an old cow, one known as a producer and who can be deepnded upon. The untried heifer ought to be left for the more experienced man and the owner who can afford to experiment, and lose if necessary. You never can tell what a heifer will do in the way of producing

Editor Democrat-Forum:

We have greatly enjoyed the Forum as a means of keeping tab on items of interest in Maryville. However, our friends there may have thought that we have fallen by the wayside ere this, they have heard so little from us, but only for the reason that we have been deeply absorbed in the development of new business interests (Mr. Eaton becoming secretary-treasurer of the Hull Signal Selector Company last February, at the time we left Maryville), and then in leisure hours, as all know, there is the never ceasing temptation to enjoy glorious Denver and the grandeur of the surrounding country. Business, too, often takes my father or husband on long motor trips and in going with them I have seen the greater part of this Rocky Mountain country. The roads into the very heart of it, over even the most rugged and grandest parts, are now like city boulevards, and although some of the grades encountered are as much as twenty-three per cent, a good, high-power machine takes them with comparative ease. After having seen Colorado by rail in past years, I now know the only way to truly see it is by motor. Realizing this, tourists by the tens of thousands are here in cars from every state in the Union, and from abroad.

Trout fishing has been great this summer. During my husbands' regular vacation we drove two hundred miles into Northwest Colorado, crossing the Continental Divide each way over both the Berthoud and Rabbit Ear passes. Along the way it was easy to catch all the little speckled brook trout we cared for, and what is more delicious than these finest of fish fried to a crisp brown over campfire coals! After reaching the Hahn's Peak country of Northwest Colorado we joined another party and on saddle horses rode twenty or more miles over a barely broken trail up a range of the Continental Divide, and there at an altitude of eleven thousand feet struck camp beside so-called bottomless lakes formed by springs in natural reservoirs of the mountains, and truly (for this is an honest truth fish story), the big, mountain rainbow trout were so thick in these lakes that they darted about in great schools, and one could catch the fine fellows, wary and garme as they are, to his heart's content! Of course, these lakes are little known to the traveling public.

Speaking of passes over the Continental Divide; there are many, of course, but the Berthoud above mentioned is of unsurpassed grandeur. The auto highway mounts to an altitude of between eleven and twelve thousand feet; directly below always the clear torrents dashing over the boulders in the jagged canyons walled with granite of every color and hue, the towering pines and blue and silver spruce casting their long shadows on the mountain slopes, in places great beds of many varieties of mountain flowers perfectly royal in coloring, and in the distance the peakes of other ranges capped with the eternal snows; making in all an array too gorgeous and wonderful for any pen or brush to picture.

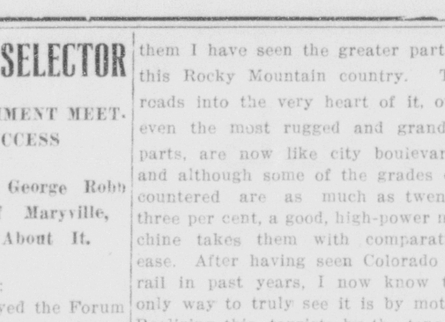
In July the auto highway to the summit of Pike's Peak was opened. This is the highest auto road in the world, and said to afford much finer views than the cog road up Pike's. We expect to make this drive in September.

At the time Mr. Eaton and I left Maryville you asked for word some time later concerning the success of the Hull Signal Selector. I am pleased to state that all has gone well, indeed. Delay with die makers and the great scarcity of sheet brass and other metals, due to affairs of war, has caused some delay in output, but that is only a temporary matter, and so far as demand for the selector "Selectaphone" is concerned, that grows greater all the time. There seems to be no question but that this 'phone attachment, making all conversation on party lines private, will come into general use the world over.

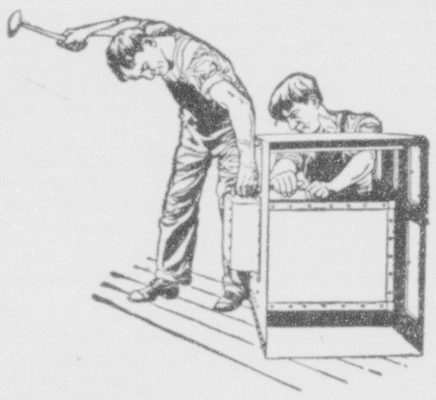
Some time this fall Mr. Eaton and I expect to greet Maryville friends and relatives while on a little trip eastward; probably about time to take advantage of a good Missouri turkey!

MRS. GEORGE ROBB EATON.

The Monarch in Course of Construction



Every door frame and angle bar is malleable iron. The top is polished perfectly smooth, then blued by electricity, making a finish that never needs polishing.



What is Malleable Iron?

The best soft gray cast iron annealed and when thoroughly annealed it becomes the best heat transmitting and resisting iron known to range consrtuction. Every joint in the Monarch is riveted and therefore gas and air tight. The rivets being wrought iron are of the same heat resisting temperment as the material they hold together. Thus making the expansion equal therefore continued expansion under these conditions do not make loose joints. The life and efficiency of a range depends on the consruction of the fire box and the fire box construction in the Monarch is built scientifically correct.

The construction of the body of the Monarch Range is the best known to range manufacturers. The inner wall is of annealed copper fused steel, the outer wall of copper fused American planished steel with ⅜ inch asbestos insolation, thus making practically a rust proof body. Do not buy a range until we have shown you the Monarch Malleable Construction.

TAX STUDENTS MEET

300 MEN FROM EVERY STATE ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Program of Five Days Includes Leading Authorities and Students on Taxation in the U. S.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—Three hundred students of taxation, representing every state in the Union, met here today at the national tax conference. The sessions will cover a period of five days, and the program includes the leading authorities and students on taxation in the United States.

Governor Samuel Ralston extended the Hoosier welcome to the visitors, after Samuel T. Howe of Kansas, president of the conference, had called it to order. Governor Ralston said the conference was of special interest to the people of Indiana, because a state commissioner will present recommendations to the next general assembly for a revision of the state tax laws.

Lawson Purdy, president of the department of taxes and assessments of New York City, was made temporary chairman. Allen Ripley Foote, honorary president and founder of the association, reviewed the progress made in taxation since the conference first met ten years ago. Tonight four leaders in tax reform in Indiana will tell what is being done to secure more equitable assessments.

Day and night sessions will be held beginning tomorrow. Among the prominent authorities on taxation who will address the conference are: John B. Phillips, chairman of the Colorado tax commission; Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee; T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer of Ontario; Nils P. Gaugen, chairman of the Wisconsin tax commission; Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, Columbia university; Charles A. Andrews of Massachusetts; Thomas D. Kearney of the Michigan board of tax commissioners, and M. Markham Flannery, attorney for the federal trade commission.

A special committee will report on the operation of the federal income tax. The single tax will be discussed informally.

FOR MODEL PRISON FARM

Indiana Penitentiary Warden Would Give Men Chance to Work in Open —To Lease 2,500 Acres.

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 31.—Edward J. Fogarty, "Big Bill," warden of the state prison at Michigan City, is tired of seeing "his boys" cooped up within prison walls working in a binder twine plant or breaking stone. He wants to give them a chance to get out in the open, where sunlight and more freedom will be theirs. The state has no money to buy a prison farm, but Fogarty is negotiating for the lease of 2,500 acres of land near Michigan City for farming purposes. He proposed to make it a model farm with experts directing the work of the convicts.

Leslie M. Shaw, Republican Orator, to Conduct "School" for Indiana Natives.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 31.—There is no reason why Indiana should not resound with oratory in the fall campaign. Not only have both Republican and Democratic campaign managers secured much talent from official Washington, but the Republican state committee brought Leslie M. Shaw, one of the party's oldest and most reliable speakers, to conduct a "school" for native campaign speakers. Shaw instructed them in treating national issues, and James P. Goodrich, Republican candidate for governor, lectured them on handling state issues.
